

It has been a rewarding first year for me on the 2019 MelbPC Committee with some good improvements and necessary updates being implemented.

I hope to continue to help MelbPC move forward adapting to a rapidly changing world by working with the new younger recruits to the Committee, including Flynn, Dave, Paul and Aavon, but with strong recognition of the role and importance of the traditional members of the Club.

The challenges ahead, to ensure a viable ongoing Club, are significant as the needs of members change driven by changes in the technology we all use.

Under Stephen's Vice Presidency with assistance from Hugh we have seen some great strides forward in the IT area with more to come. David's guidance as President will bring some new drive and enthusiasm as we chart a broader course for a Club that has its roots in the early PC era.

I see the younger members helping us to see what the future needs of technology users will be in the coming years and decades.

The valuable contributions from Harry, Stewart and John S will help us to keep the Club firmly aligned to the needs of the non-Moorabbin and traditional members.
